About This Game

Two teams of adorable murder-bots duke it out over a number of rounds. One side attempts to plant and detonate bombs in their opponents' base, and the other, quite reasonably, attempts to stop them.

Designed for 4-versus-4 players, each round earns money (or "volts") which the teams can spend on outlandish equipment and weaponry. Take a stealth suit, slip past the enemy's defences and snipe from the shadows, or dive straight into the fray, deflecting incoming shots with the reflector shield. Or toss a time bomb into the mosh-pit and watch as bullets and bots dance in balletic slow-motion! Synchronize with your team to achieve the best strategy and claim ultimate victory!

- Built especially for PC, with fluid controls tuned for WASD movement and mouse-aim.
- Cool traversal abilities - dashing, teleportation, jet shoes and grappling hooks.
- Five unique suits with abilities such as Time Distortion, Time Booster, Bullet Deflector, Cloaking, and Kinetic Absorber!
- Over 30 different kinds of weapons and tools!
- Mecha-styled vehicles to bring to the battle!

- Damage-bonus hit zones including: head, eye and from behind!
 - 10 maps at launch and more to come, plus workshop maps!
 - 4 versus 4 multi-player with dedicated server software!
 - Customizable characters and UI/crosshair settings!

Cobalt WASD is a FAIR GAME and a FULL GAME!

- No pay-to-win!
- No loot crates!
- No edition exclusives!
- No day one DLC!

This game is very fun and enjoyable. I like how each side has unique equipment and weapons.
I would however recommend to add 2 other sides such as the metaldroids or robots and ninjas.. no controller support dlc sized game that should be an update
no couch party or local co op option
no servers with players on them
no one playing online boring singleplayer with predictable ai impossible to get into a match i really miss the rolling from cobalt , removing it also made wasd seem elss strategic than the original

there is a discord to find other people playing the game but i think that you shouldnt have to use that just to find other players (if anyone actually uses it) what you are essentially left with is an inferior version of cobalt that you have payed for which is made for online multiplayer but cannot be used for that intended purpose so your stuck with offline singleplayer and even if you do have friends or family with you to play with you cant lol the singleplayer that you do have is half baked and just boring so i do not reccomend buying this game at all. Fun round based economics system, Fast paced round, very fun with friend. Worth the $7 by far.. If I had to describe the game in just a few words, it would be "Fast paced, 2D, Really freakin' cool CS:GO". I haven't played the original Cobalt yet, so I can't say how this holds up as a second game but as a standalone game it is very good. The community on Discord is super cool and always willing to play a game with you. Whenever you get a double/triple/team kill it is super satisfying. You can just run around the map and swing like spiderman and shoot people with unique weapons. I wish there were a bit more of the time slowing mechanic, becuase that seems to be a big seller for the game, however, I barely ever see it used in game besides the occasional time bomb. Another issue is that games never really start, but this can be easily fixed by joining the Discord server and just asking people to play with you. If I were you I would buy it, the game is pretty cheap and super satisfying and fun to play.. Original cobalt, although fun, needed an investment in time to master the skills and controls.

However, Cobalt WASD is really user friendly. The game is similar in concept to CS:GO. The blue team has to try to prevent the red team from planting the bomb. Another great feature is the armour types. There are currently 6 amour types which have different strengths. There is chrono- move 3x faster than others.

Heavy- much more health
Stealth- Invisibility heavy breathing
Scouter- make an invicible shield around yourself and others light armour- better than nothing!
metal face chrono- slow time... like neo and other stuff... cba to write it all down.

Its really easy to jump into a game in a break for a few minutes and jump straight out again.

PROS:

currency based on ingame performance (eg killing an ememy)
employable tactics easier to play than original Cobalt Ridiculously fun Great community regular content updates
a balanced class system devs really open to feedback

you can make maps and play them in game customisation

CONS:

all online content (is this a con tho)

I would highly recommend this game

This game takes a lot of the elements of the original Cobalt game and makes it more accessible to casual players. It has often been compared to CSGO, but I feel like this game has an advantage in some areas. For instance:

- One can ride a mech with a railgun in its mouth
- have a nice shield
- throw a canister of liquid nitrogen right into someone's face
- can be like Spider-Man with a grappling hook (and kill/stun people whilst swinging)
- use a time gun to teleport behind someone and kill them with a sword
- use a jetpack with unlimited fuel
- throw jars of pure radiation
- create a room full of healing sentries
- slide backwards down a hill shooting a machine gun
- and much more...

Cobalt WASD is worth your money if you are looking for a fast-paced, diverse, and downright cool 2D shooter.. em NOBODY is playing these game. And game is♥♥♥♥♥♥♥♥. What the hell... game is cool, but it's so dead.. i nitted on my keyboard. great game i was hoping to get first review but i missed by a lot
